The Sultan's Betrayal!

Persia: The empire of legends. The Sultan of Astrabad has been picked by Osman the First, founder of the Ottoman Empire, to lead an army against barbarian invaders to the north. In his absence, the Sultan has given rulership of Astrabad to Jaffar, the Grand Vizier, and entrusted him with the protection of his only daughter, the Princess.

A young Prince, an adventurer from a neighboring city, has met the Sultan's daughter — and promptly fallen in love with her. Meanwhile, Jaffar has received news that the Persian army has been defeated. Believing the Sultan to be dead, Jaffar decides to become the new ruler of Astrabad by marrying the Princess.

Jaffar has given the Princess one hour to prepare for her wedding, and has thrown the Prince in the palace dungeon where he is sure the young man will meet his doom. But the Vizier doesn't know how resourceful the Prince is. The Prince is determined to save the Princess from the fate Jaffar has in store for her by escaping from the dungeon.

As the Prince of Persia, you must make your way through the many dangers of the dungeons below the palace to save the Princess from the evil Vizier. Traps of all kinds, spikes, bottomless pits, palace guards, are all there to stop you. And remember, you only have one hour to make it out . . .

Getting Started

The game begins with the Prince of Persia Title screen. From here, you can press Start to go to the Set Up Screen, or wait to see the story. After the introduction, there is a short demo, and finally, a picture of the palace at sundown. Press Start or Button A or C to see the Set Up screen. Your choices here are as follows:

Start: Select Start to begin playing the game.

Fastest: This shows the fastest times each floor has been successfully traveled through.

Name Entry: Here is where you input your name to save your games. First, press Start or Button A or C to see the character board. Place the Selection Arrow next to the character you want to input, and select it with Button A. Move forward through the characters you've selected with Button C, and move back with Button B. When you've finished inputting your name, press Start. Check the name, and if it's OK, press Button A or C.

Back to Demo: Press Start or Button A or C to see the Introduction and Demo screens again.

When you're ready, press Start or Button A or C to start the game.

Movement and Fighting

In the dungeons of the Grand Vizier, making your way through the traps and hazards is the only way you can save the Princess! Here are a variety of techniques you'll have to perfect in order to make your way to freedom.

Special Running and Jumping Techniques

The Long Jump: When you want to jump across wide areas, get a running start by pressing and holding the D-Button. Then press Button B when you get about two steps away from the edge to make the leap.

"No Turning Back."

Ledge Hanging: Press the D-Button and Button A or C when you're climbing up or down to hang onto whatever you're climbing on. If a ledge is too far away to reach even with the long jump, there is still a way to get across. Make a long jump, and as you reach the other side, press Buttons A and C at the same time to grab onto the opposite edge. Then pull yourself up by pressing the D-Button up or Button B. This is very useful when you find yourself about to fall on pointed spikes!

"Look Out Below!"

"Tricky Footing."

Tiptoeing: Press the D-Button while pressing Button A or C to take short, careful steps. This method is used in a number of situations:

- Use this method to step right to the edge of a drop. You'll have a better chance of making it to the other side when you jump.
- Running between spikes is an easy way to impale yourself. Tiptoe lightly to make your way through these traps.
- Loose ceiling plates can't be dislodged unless you're standing directly below them. Tiptoe forward to position yourself, then jump up.
- Sometimes you're in a bad position to reach a ledge above you. Tiptoe until you're standing in the right position, then pull yourself up!
- Also useful for the Jaws of Death.

Swordfighting

You will come across guards throughout the palace, and to reach the Princess, you're going to have to deal with them first. The basics of the swordfight are simple: when you come across a palace guard, you automatically draw your sword. Use the D-Button to edge yourself forward, and when you're in striking distance, press Button C or Button A to thrust. Parry your opponent's strike by pressing Button B. Pressing the D-Button down puts your scimitar away, but don't do that unless you have a really good reason. Once you've put your scimitar away, one blow from your opponent will end your adventure for good!

"Danger on Two Sides."

Into the Dungeon!

You've been thrown into the dungeon of the Palace Astrabad. As you already know, you only have one hour to find your way through this maze and save the Princess from the evil designs of Jaffar, the Grand Vizier.

What you don't know is that Jaffar is not only an evil man, but a sorcerer as well. You must be careful of the many booby traps in the dungeon, and also beware of the evil magic and its effect on the dungeon. You will see supernatural creatures as well as more down-to-earth (though just as deadly) ones.

Scimitar: Near the beginning of the game, you will come across a scimitar, a curved sword used in ancient Persia. Look for this sword before doing anything else in the game. You will need this in order to get out of the dungeon.

Potions: In Jaffar's dungeon, you will find three types of potions. The first kind is a healing potion. It will restore one of your Life markers (shown at the bottom left of the screen). The second potion will take one Life marker away. Unfortunately, these two types are very similar in appearance, so be careful!

The last type of potion (which is harder to find) has a longer neck than the other two types. This special potion adds an extra Marker to your total supply!

Doors and Gates: Each floor of the dungeon has one entrance and one exit. However, there are many gates which bar your way. Gates and exits are opened (and often closed with a bang) by stepping on spring-loaded floor plates. Remembering where each kind of plate is located is essential to getting to the exit. Naturally, you can only use an entrance once.

"Before It Closes!"

Floors and Ceilings:

Keep in mind that many of the floor and ceiling plates are not solid. Standing on loose floor plates will dislodge them. Sometimes you will just fall down one level. Other times you will land squarely on a bed of spikes. Watch your footing. Ceiling plates can be knocked loose by jumping up when standing directly under them. Ceiling plates often lead to passageways or Life potions, but watch out when you knock one loose. Your turban isn't much protection against a granite slab falling on your head!

"Now What?"

"Is It Worth the Risk?"

the dangerous spots and plan how best to handle the situation.

Obstacles: Hidden in the floors and ceilings of the dungeon are numerous booby traps set to go off as soon as you get too close. There are also perilous chasms to jump across and armed guards to fight. Although you have a time limit, it's wiser in the long run to take a little extra time at

The Options Window

If you press Start during play, the game is paused and the Options Window appears. Your options are as follows:

Save: This saves the game at the floor you are currently on. If you're past a locked gate, the game will start from that point. Make sure to save the game at those points, so that you don't have to start from the entrance to that floor. Games are automatically saved under the name you're currently using.

LEVEL	TIME	NAME
1	01:30	OSMAN 1
2	03:24	BOB 1
3	03:21	BOB 5
4	03:05	BOB 8
5	02:41	BOB 3
6	02:46	BOB 3
7	02:41	BOB 11
8	02:30	BOB 10
9	02:33	BOB 17
10	02:33	BOB 17
11	02:03	RUFFIAN 1

Fastest: You can take a look at how fast you or other players have made it through the floors.

Name Entry: Use this option when you want to change the name of the game you're saving. To save a game separately, enter a new name. Then press the D-Button down to a blank line on the Save screen, and press Start or Button A or C to put it into memory. The line will then show the floor you're on, the current time, and the name of your saved game.

Note: Entering your name is done the same way as on the Set Up screen. See Name Entry on page 3.

Speed Move: Change the speed at which the Prince moves. The default setting is 3. The fastest speed is 1, the slowest is 5.

Speed Fight: Change the speed of the Prince's attack. The default setting is 4. The fastest speed is 1, the slowest is 5.

Game End: If you decide to quit the game without saving it, select Game End and press Button A or C. The game will stop. Remember, when you choose this option, you will lose all the information.

Restart: This option lets you start again from the entrance to the floor you're currently on. You restart the level with only the time remaining on the clock.

The Fate of the Prince...

If the Prince is able to make his way through the floors and defeat his opponents, he will finally achieve his ultimate goal. But in the dark passage-ways of the palace, things aren't always so rosy. If he happens to fall victim to one of the hundreds of dangers awaiting him, wait a few moments and a message screen will appear, telling you to push any button, but Button B, to continue the game. After you press a button, the Prince will start his adventures again at the entrance of the same level he died on. Keep in mind, however, that the sands of the hourglass are still falling. In other words, you restart the game with only the amount of time that's left on the clock.

A Secret Message from the Princess

At the beginning, just after the Prince had been thrown into the Palace dungeon, he sat down, wondering what to do next. He knew he had to find his way out of the prison to save the Princess from Jaffar's evil plans! He looked to his right and noticed a loose floor plate nearby. A way out?

As he was walking over to try and pry the plate open, a white mouse carrying a piece of paper in its mouth came through a hole in the wall. The mouse dropped the paper at his feet and scrambled away. Intrigued, the Prince picked up the note and opened it...

"Now is the time for courage, my Prince. I have been through the dungeon only once, but I can tell you some of the things to be careful of. First, beware of the swordsmen. They will try to force you backwards with their sword blows, onto spikes or through weak spots in the floors. Get as close to them as you can and use their strategy against them as you fight."

"You must also remember that the floors and ceilings are not always sturdy. If you jump up and down, you will see the loose plates shake. There are secret passageways through some of these plates, while others are bottomless pits. Be careful when exploring!"

"Finally, I must tell you that Jaffar has said he has a special opponent waiting for you — one that he says you cannot fight against and win. If this is true, then all is lost. But I feel there is some trick in Jaffar's words..."

"I have faith that you will overcome these obstacles. Oh! Jaffar is coming! Please hurry, my Prince!"
